Conferences and Seminars

I am finally entering a phase of life when I can start to present conferences and seminars. Very few people have known that all of these years I have been raising three children by myself, and they are now teenagers. My responsibilities with them have kept me from traveling. Taking time to visit with other people has been impractical when doing the work of two people. Life is now changing, so I can be more available to people personally.

I recently presented a seminar on a Saturday morning in Castle Rock, Colorado. We had a full room with between 130 and 150 people. I had not been in public for 4 ½ years. I presented two topics, “What Does God Want,” and, “What is God Doing?” I received a lot of positive feedback. This is something I can present in your community, so if you are interested in attending, do contact me and let me know.

I have been having conversations with the conference center at Glen Eryie. This is a spectacular place only about 10 minutes from where my kids and I live. I can easily reserve a weekend with them to present an annual conference if there is enough interest. The seminars I can present for free near where you live, asking for a donation to cover the expenses. For a conference, there would be a cost for the overnight stay and meals at Glen Eryie. The presentations would be Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Do let me know if you would have an interest in traveling to Colorado Springs to be a part of this.

The purpose of the conference is to present everything about the basics of the Christian life at one time. When listening to the radio programs, you can get pieces here and there, but reserving a large block of time like this allows for the topics to be presented in order. This will also be a wonderful opportunity to have some time with other like minded believers. Having the meals together is a perfect opportunity to develop new relationships.

To prepare for the conference I am going to be writing a book that covers the topics in more detail. This is a book I have wanted to have ever since I first got saved. If this goes well, I can easily expand to other cities and perhaps do three or four conferences every year.

Building Life

I have written a new book, “Building Life,” and it is available directly from me. I am not distributing this through the regular book channels, and Living God Ministries is not selling this book. Living God Ministries is not a business, but a ministry running exclusively on donations to reach people through broadcasting on radio.

The book was written for several reasons. The first is of course for my kids. They are becoming adults, and I wanted to provide them with something written down that describes what I wish I would have known when I was starting out in life. There isn’t anything I have not already told them, but having it available in a book form is nice to have. I had a very difficult start in life. The one message I got clearly from my parents when growing up was I am defective and unlovable. I did not have any mentors, and I had very few friends. My late teenage years were filled with terrible mistakes, and my twenties were spent trying to recover from them. It wasn’t until my thirties that I began to experience some form of stability in my life, understanding the world around me better. My thirties and forties were consumed with the consequences of different kinds of failures, and only in my fifties did I begin to have a peaceful life. I have lived a relentless struggle that resulted in significant health problems from the absurd levels of stress, but I expect the last years of my life will be much more relaxing. I wrote this book from my personal experiences, and not as an academic exercise from studying other people’s lives.

This book is not a Christian book. It is written for a general audience to be more appealing to a larger number of people. It is the kind of book that while reading, you will easily think of people you know who would benefit from it. I am not marketing this, so copies will only move by word of mouth, person to person. If someone reads and learns from it, I would expect them to do a search on my name to see what else I may have done, and this is when they will encounter my work through Living God Ministries. It is in this way I have produced an evangelism tool to encourage new people to know the Lord.

I am making the transition to writing books, and the future ones will be for the purpose of knowing our God, and the relationship He has called us to. I am expecting the donation model to continue to decline over the next four to eight years, and I will be able to continue to tell people about the Lord by producing books on the topics outlined by the radio programs.

Most Sincerely,
Aaron
Teaching Pastor for Living God Ministries
